

Michaël André Franiatte

Gentle, Human, Listen, Apply, See, Think, Work, Code, Debug, Find, Fast, Force, Advance, Check, Learn

Profil

I like programming, and I'm doing it in my free time. I made lot of programs because I wanted to learn programing and to accomplish my ideas. I like creating websites and using web services, databases, and all information over internet and over my head. I don't lose times to debug, and I find easy useful information to help me to solve issues. I like learning new things and I like to know the technologies, when I need to use it. Even with my advanced age, I'm still energic, and I'm always with lot of hope.

I want to continue programing because I always progress and find it more easy each day going through. I've learned programing by changing of orientation, and since I was able to accomplish every programs and websites I wanted it take live. I'm always listening ideas and values, for myself and because the users have always good reasons to want new and different things.

Beside to program in my free time, I'm really motivated to have happy users. I like when the work is well done, because the user experience is always the most important. There are lot of things important to do and to make perfect without never give up until work is done. I'm someone who pays attention in everything.

Motivation

I'm not someone who writes programs and websites for training myself. I'm someone with goals I like to accomplish, whatever the goals. I'm not someone who want to show to others I know programing. I like to rewrite my codes, clean it, make it more easy to read and understand, make it optimized and well arranged. I'm always thinking to do better, to test everything, to find the best solutions, to understand flawless the works to accomplish. I like to use the best of myself, always thinking a program or a website on every scales of conception.

Among my experiences in writting codes, and reading codes of others, I acquired lot of reflections on lot of solutions and issues. I solve fast everything that I'm facing. I can solve little and big issues with a time lapse.

I like to work alone, and also I like to work in a team with chief directives. I'm not someone who make growing a delay in a work. I like working with members of a team, and respecting each one, and their occupations and concerns.

Sincerely

I would be happy to contribute in some works, alone or in a team. I have experiments in works and in team works. It's always a great pleasure to contribute with my values, adding to values of teammates, in little of big works. I'm always taking seriously everything I'm lead to do.

I really appreciate you take an interest in my profil and motivation. I would be glad to meet people of my maybe future employment.

I never give up while I'm unemployed, and always stay available for discuss and meeting.